GRAY, REVEALS BRUTAL MURDER OF ART EDITOR

Signed Confession of Co-de-

Read to Jurors

Corinth, Long Island City, N. Y., April 27.—Henry J. Gray, signed confession, giving a detailed story of the brutal slaying of Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boat, was read to the jury by District Attorney Richard S. Newcomb today at the trial of Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder for first degree murder.

The confession was admitted as evidence after a vigorous battle on the part of Gray's counsel to prevent its admission on the ground it was obtained under duress. The statement was signed in the office of the district attorney at 1:05 a. m. on March 22, 1927.

District Attorney Newcomb read the confession without any attempt at elocution effect.

"I make this statement voluntarily of my own free will, without fear or coercion, knowing that anything I may say may be used against me," Gray had said.

Recalls Introduction

"I was introduced to this Mrs. Snyder about two years ago in town by Harry Folsom. I believe that he had

COURTROOM FULL AS TRIAL OPENS

Corthouse, Long Island City, April 27.—Spectators were lined around the wall and every seat was taken when court opened. Mrs. Snyder, flanked by a police captain, was calm and collected. Gray looked depressed.

James Conroy, assistant district attorney, who was present when Gray signed his confession on March 22, was recalled to the stand and cross examined by Samuel Miller, counsel for Gray.

Miller first asked permission to call witnesses to testify concerning Gray's confession and the court granted it.

He picked up and another girl up at the restaurant. I came in from a trip and he introduced me to her. I didn't see her—I don't think—for two or three months after that. I would say probably it was two months when she wrote me and asked me to get her a corset. I am in the corset business, a salesman. I did that.

"She is a woman of great charm—I probably don't have to tell you that—and I did like her very much and she was good company and apparently a good pal to spend an evening with.

"I think that the intimate relations started in August if I am not mistaken. I think in September we started getting together three letters a day—practically every day when I was away from home.

"She became confidential in the fact she and her husband were not getting along.

"I think it was in November or December that she spoke about increasing the insurance on her husband's life. She told me that it was to be $500,000, as I recall.

Kept After Him

"I saw quite a little of her from then on. She would come in town shopping and call me up. She called me considerably and wrote to me very often. I will say, to use the slang, she did me pretty hard for a while. I was out to her house for lunch and met her mother. I don't think her mother knew of the relations which existed. At the time I met her I was married. I was very happy at home and had a very fine wife.

"As this thing kept growing she made several attempts upon his life. She told me, and I told her I thought she was terrible. I think in two instances she gave him sleeping powders or so-called sleeping powders and turned on the gas. I think she gave him bicarbonate of soda at the time he was sick with hemorrhage. She wrote me, she gave him four at one time and six at another. All her plans seemed to fail. She started then to bound me on this plan. I said, absolutely not. Then I didn't see her so often as I did. Later she told me that she and her husband had a big fight one night and she said 'I don't think that some man said that he didn't treat me better he would kill him'.

"As I recall it, there were at least five or six attempts that were made on his life, none of which was successful. Then she started to bound me upon this plan to assist her.

"I have always been a gentleman and I have always been absolutely on the level with everybody. I have a great many friends. If I ever have refused at first. With some veiled threats and hints of love making, she reached the point where she got me in such a whirl that I didn't know where I was.

EX-SENATOR BEVERIDGE DIES IN INDIANAPOLIS

Death Comes in Sudden Re-lapse; Physicians and Wife at Bedside

Indianapolis, Ind., April 27.—Former United States Sen. Albert J. Beveridge, 65, died at his home here today after an illness of two weeks, from heart trouble.

Death came in a sudden relapse, according to Dr. Charles P. Emerson of Indianapolis, Beveridge's physician.

Two weeks ago Dr. William Sydney Thayer, professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, was called in consultation here, and the two physicians had held hopes of an early recovery, Dr. Emerson said.

At the senator's bedside at the time of his death were the two physicians and Mrs. Beveridge.

Mrs. Beveridge was reported under care of physicians but not in a serious condition.

COOLIDGE SENDS HIS CONDOLENCES

Washington, April 27.—The sudden death of ex-Sen. Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, came as a shock today to the president, who he had known for many years.

President Coolidge sent the following message of condolence to Mrs. Beveridge:

"It is with a feeling of personal loss that I have learned of the passing of your distinguished husband. In scholarship, in literature and in politics he was a great American figure. I express to you and your family the sympathy of Mrs. Coolidge and myself."

JEROME K. JEROME SAYS THE STAGE IS DECLINING TOWARD THE BOTTOMLESS PIT OF INEVITABLE DESTRUCTION.

The "big theater," which must please the mob in order to pay expenses, are the cause," he says.

The size of theaters has nothing to do with it. American moving picture houses in which you could lose any British theater run decent pictures, because producers and exhibitors have brains enough to know that in the long run money pays, and Will Hays, chosen by them as censor, does his work well.

SOME one, not satisfied with "The Star Spangled Banner," offered $100 for a better national tune. Nine hundred and fifty-one composers tried and failed.

"The Star Spangled Banner" will continue to make Americans band up, to make them well you must band up. To do so, I believe, is the best teacher of oratory said, "To convince others, be yourself convinced."

There will be no improved "Star Spangled Banner" until real danger inspires composers to produce the right song.

GREENVILLE UNDER 15 FEET OF WATER

SEA SERPENTS

Two, Each 30 Feet Long, Seen in Howe Sound, Near Vancouver

Vancouver, B. C., April 27.—The North Pacific sea serpent season was officially opened today. Fredrick Tarnell, of Vancouver, reported that he and his brother had seen two sea serpents each 30 feet long in Howe Sound, off Gibson's Landing, 130 miles west of this place.

Fishermen reported seeing the serpents, which, they said, could raise their heads six feet above the surface of the water. Most of the fish are reported to have fled from Howe Sound in fright.

COOLIDGE WILL IGNORE LETTER OF MAGAZINE

President's Statement to Correspondents States That "Incident Is Closed"

REFUSES TO ANSWER

Chief Executive Still is Silent on Candidacy for "Third Term"

Washington, April 27.—The first really serious effort to "smoke out" President Coolidge on the third term issue has come to naught.

Mr. Coolidge it was announced at the White House today, will ignore the open letter addressed to him yesterday by the Forum Magazine, in which he was challenged to present his views to the country on the proposition that the president should attempt to continue in office beyond the traditional eight years established by George Washington.

The challenging letter was written by John Carter of New York and was designed to give Mr. Coolidge an opportunity to present his views to the country in the same manner that Gov. Al Smith recently did in an open letter in the Atlantic Monthly.

When the letter was presented at the White House it was received by Edward T. Clark, personal secretary to the president. Clark said he was undecided about putting it up to Mr. Coolidge.

Eventually he did so, however, for when Clark was asked this morning whether Mr. Coolidge would reply to it he went into Mr. Coolidge's private office, conferred with the president for a time, and then emerged with this statement to newspaper correspondents: "You may say that the incident is closed."

Further explanation was forthcoming, but it was very evident that Mr. Coolidge has no intention of clarifying the atmosphere surrounding his candidacy in 1928 at this time.

The Carter letter called attention to the fact that only two Republican presidents in history—Grant and Hoover—sought to break down the two-term tradition, and both failed.

It pointed out, too, that in their cases the procedure followed was that of maintaining silence while encouraging sentiment for their candidacies on the theory that it was "popular demand."

A number of pointed questions were asked: "Mr. Coolidge in the letter, among them: "Do you believe that the tradition of American politics is hostile to a substantive third term in the presidency?"

NAVAL INQUIRY BOARD CONTINUES ITS PROBE

Seeks To Determine Why Plane of Davis and Wooster Crashed

Newport News, Va., April 27.—A naval board of inquiry continued its investigation today into the aerial crash which cost the lives of Lieut. Commander Noel Davis and Lieut. S. H. Wooster in a fatal practice flight with the transatlantic plane, "American Legion."

The inquiry will determine whether the plane, carrying a load of 16,000 pounds, was overloaded, or charged, or whether the crash resulted from engine trouble. Witnesses told the board that the plane rose only 50 feet in the air following the take-off and that Davis sought to get elevation by a spiral, losing height, it was said, Davis finally tried to make an emergency landing. The plane landed safely, ran 100 feet across a marshland, witnesses said, and then dove nose first into a duck hole in a marsh adjoining the air field.

Navy Dirigible in Hangar After Being in Air 36 Hours

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., April 27.—After being in the air nearly 36 hours, the navy dirigible, Los Angeles, was placed in the hangar here early today. She had arrived yesterday morning from Pensacola, Fla., but shifting winds, which attained at times a velocity of 45 miles an hour, prevented the dirigible from being moored or landed.

Lieut. Commr. Charles E. Rosen-dahl, commanding officer of the Los Angeles, declared that while coming from Pensacola he had been informed of "secondary weather" over Lakehurst, but had not expected conditions to be so severe.

SEEK SLAYERS

Body Found in Barrel in River Near Bellair

Bellair, April 27.—Search for the murderers of Angelo Barbin, 34, Monongahela City, Pa., shifted to Wheeling, W. Va., today when Hugo Ciradello, told police he had seen Barbin in the West Virginia city two days ago in company with a woman.

Barbin's body was found near the river bottom, late Tuesday in a tightly bound barrel, with two nails driven into his skull and a clothline about the neck.

Barbin formerly was employed as a baker in Steubenville.

RELIEVED IN OHIO

EXPERT WITNESS BILLS ARE VETOED BY DONAHAY

Registers Disapproval of Measure Providing for Regulation of Court Cases

Columbus, April 27.—Governor Victor Donahay today increased his veto list by registering his disapproval of two bills, by Rep. D. S. Ingalls, Cleveland, which provided for the regulation of expert witnesses in civil cases and in criminal cases where sanity of the accused was in question.

The bill relative to civil cases decreed that, wherever expert opinion, or evidence became necessary, or desirable, the trial judge might appoint one or more disinterested experts, not exceeding three, to investigate and testify at the trial.

Governor Donahay announced that he is permitting the Ingalls bill, providing for expert testimony in criminal cases where the sanity of the accused is involved, to become a law because "there is some precedent" for such action.

FACES DAMAGE SUIT

Newspaper Reporter and Photographer Charge Dodge With Assault

San Francisco, April 27.—Facing damage suits totaling $50,000, Horace E. Dodge, Jr., Detroit automobile dealer, was due to appear for trial in police court here today on charges of slugging and kicking a reporter and a newspaper cameraman.

The assaults, according to the complaints, followed the attempt of newspapermen to question Dodge regarding a supposed reconciliation with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Dodge returned to San Francisco on the same steamer after they were reported to have settled their differences in Hawaii.

BODY OF DEAN HUNT REACHES SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, April 27.—When the liner Willelmina docks here today, a delegation of University of California officials will board the steamer to take off the body of Prof. Thomas Forsyth Hunt, who was delegate to the Pacific Conference in Honolulu.

Before coming to Berkeley, Dean Hunt was on the faculty of Pennsylvania State College and was head of the college of agriculture at Ohio State University.

OPPOSE BILL

Columbus, April 27.—Claiming that the measure, if operative as law, would prohibit all fishing with reels, many Ohio fishermen, from various sections of the state, have urged Governor Victor Donahay to veto the bill, by Rep. Fred Myers, Toledo, which seeks to limit the catch of black bass to 6 daily, instead of 10 as at present.

Protestants include Leroy H. Talley, Zanesville, and other members of the Muskingum League of Ohio Sportsmen, together with members of various local Isaac Walton chapters, it was stated.

WIC CLOSES DOORS TO VISITORS, TOO BUSY

Donahay and Staff Working on Legislation That Needs Approval or Veto

Columbus, April 27.—"Closed until May 9."

This inscription is on a large sign attached today to the door at the main entrance to the offices of Gov. Vic Donahay.

It signifies to visitors and to the public at large that the governor and his official staff will be busy, until the Ohio Legislature reconvenes here May 9, considering and acting upon the numerous measures passed by the legislators just prior to their "five-minute recess" which began last Friday morning.

Announcement was made that the governor will not receive visitors until he disposes of these legislative commitments. Only the most urgent official business will be permitted to interrupt Donahay's consideration of these measures, it was stated.

In the large reception room, in the executive office two big tables have been placed alongside each other. Around them, a corps of assistants will sit, aiding the governor in passing upon the many bills and resolutions.

During the closing hours of the recent legislative session, 74 bills passed the senate and house. From the date of these bills reached the governor, he is allowed 10 days in which to veto them, or attach his approving signature, or permit them to become law without his signature.

WATERS SCATTER DREAD BEFORE THEM AND DESOLATION IN THEIR WAKE

DIKE BREAK APPROVED

Hoover Gives Sanctions; Residents of Affected Parishes Fight Plan

(By International News Service)

The crest of the great Mississippi River flood slowly bore down upon New Orleans today, scattering dread before it and leaving desolation in its wake.

Flood conditions throughout the Mississippi Valley are practically unchanged, but relief is pouring into the devastated areas from all sections of the country. The death toll has passed 300, with the property loss estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars. Only a careful check, after the angry waters have subsided, can fix the actual losses in lives and property.

To Cut Losses

Acting on behalf of President Coolidge, Secretary of Commerce Hoover continued his first-hand investigation of the flooded areas today. He approved a plan to save New Orleans from the flood by cutting the levee 10 miles below the city. The plan was approved by residents in St. Bernard and Plaquemine Parishes, whose homes and properties will be deliberately flooded to save the metropolis.

Some trappers living in the area controlled the levee with shotguns, threatening to resist the move by force.

The flood has covered nearly 9,000 square miles of territory with millions of people in seven river states directly affected.

The refugees already under the care of the Red Cross approximate 300,000, of whom 150,000 are in concentration camps.

Tens of thousands of refugees were reported marooned on the river's levees and in high spots throughout the flooded territory. These are being rescued as fast as relief men can negotiate the angry streams.

Vaccines Wanted

Health conditions are fair although the greatest problem of relief workers is to provide fresh water to the desolated towns and villages. There was one hint of pestilence in a request from Governor Martinus of Arkansas for sufficient typhoid and small pox vaccines to inoculate 55,000 persons.

Aside from the saving of New Orleans, rescue operations centered upon getting 3,000 marooned persons off the levee at Arkansas City. They are now being removed to river barges. In the northern valley region, rehabilitation work was started under clear skies and a warm sun.

The crest of the flood meanwhile passed south of Helena, Ark., where a high mark of 57 feet was registered. It is moving at the rate of one mile an hour, and probably will not reach New Orleans before Friday.

Government authorities credited the huge federal-built levees along the river with saving hundreds of thousands of lives.

EXPRESS COMPANY TO HELP IN RELIEF WORK

Will Carry Clothing and Other Material Free of Charge into Flood District

Contributions of clothing or other material for the relief of victims in the Mississippi flood area, if consigned by the Red Cross or other authorized charitable and relief organizations, will be carried free of charge from Marion to any destination in the flooded district by the American Express Co.

This offer was made today by the Express company through the local agent Elmer J. Miller.

With $115 contributed by Marion residents and small donations being received in Red banks it is expected that there will be approximately $200 in the local fund before nightfall.

Contributions in Marion have been materially cut down, officials of the local Red Cross chapter say, through direct donations turned into radio broadcasting stations. One lump sum of $25, representing the contribution of several persons, was recently sent to a Columbus station, Red Cross officials here learned.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS STOREKEEPER'S SHOOTING

Cleveland, April 27.—While detectives today sought to unravel the mystery surrounding the shooting of Joseph Galluzzo, 67, storekeeper here, the latter lay between life and death in Mt. Sinai Hospital.

Galluzzo shot his son, Joseph J., 28, told police that one of two bandits who held up the store, did the shooting, but owing to discrepancies in the composite statements, detectives are needing a reliable theory.

A storekeeper directly across the street from the scene of the shooting, told police he saw one man run from the Galluzzo store, following the shot.

HEWITT MUST DIE ON AUG. 10, COURT DECIDES

Sentencing of Conneaut Youth Follows Conviction for Child's Murder

Jefferson, April 27—Floyd Hewitt, 16-year-old slayer, was sentenced to die Aug. 10 in the electric chair at Ohio State Penitentiary, by Common Pleas Judge Charles Sargent here late yesterday afternoon, after a jury of eight men and four women had found him guilty of the first degree murder of little Fred Brown, Jr., five years old.

The Brown child was clubbed to death in the basement of his mother's home on Feb. 14, after his mother, Mrs. Fred Brown, Sr., had been brutally beaten to death with a poker.

Hewitt, an overgrown country youth, in a confession made shortly after the murder, admitted that he made improper advances to Mrs. Brown, and clubbed her to death when she resisted his overtures and slapped him. He killed the child, he said, to prevent his crying, after the mother was slain.

Hewitt, a neighbor, had been visiting Mrs. Brown, listening to a radio program in her home, while her husband was at work.

Possibility of filing a motion for a new trial in the Hewitt case, was under discussion today by defense attorneys, D. F. Dunlavy and E. R. Hogue.

The defense has three days in which to file such a motion.

In a Kroehler Davenport or Chair the springs are supported on a steel under-structure—similar in design to a fire box spring. This is the most modern development in upholstered furniture. Ordinary furniture has cloth or hurlap strips that tear loose from the frame and involve expensive repairs; but Kroehler Furniture keeps its shape permanently. It gives you the permanency of metal and the resiliency of finely tempered steel. Kroehler Furniture retains its beautiful lines and luxurious comfort for years.

Up until one o'clock today that 80-pound sack of sand has dropped and dropped 12 inches right on an ordinary Kroehler cushion—dropped 68,000 times—say, you would not want it to drop eight times on your suite—68,000 times is equal to nearly 30 years wear in an ordinary home. You would never know the suite had been abused. Come in and examine it.

Fears Firing On Warcraft May Lead To Critical Situation

SOVIET BOOKS ARE EXAMINED BY AMERICANS

Mac Murray Says Chinese shore Guns May Sink Boat with Direct Hit

April 27—American Minister Van A. MacMurray today expressed concern that the increasing number of Chinese against American warcraft in the Yangtze might lead to a critical situation. He said that a direct hit from one of the Chinese shore guns might sink one of the smaller gunboats.

Minister MacMurray said that John Davis, the American consul at Nanjing, is attempting to devise means of saving the American financial losses, which are difficult as Consul Davis has been ashore since claims were made for the Chinese foreign losses caused in the anti foreign outbreaks.

Exchange Views
Views upon the reply to Eugene Chen's note are still being exchanged by the diplomats representing the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, MacMurray revealed. A member of the American military mission in China is permitted to exchange views with the Chinese account books which were seized when the Soviet embassy compound was raided. The documents indicate that Soviet credits to the southern (Nationalist) army totaled 10,000,000 rubles (nearly $5,400,000) to the beginning of 1936. The documents showed that the Russians had supplied the southern army with munitions, rifles, mortars, railway rolling stock and flame throwers.

OPEN WARFARE IS THREATENED

Nanking, April 27—Combined attacks by the northern and southern forces on foreign warships and shipping in the Yangtze River have created a serious situation here, which threatens to break into open warfare.

While there have been repeated attacks on foreign vessels in the Yangtze during the last six weeks, the frequency of the attacks is increasing and with the wounding of several men on the U. S. S. Penguin yesterday the situation taken on a more serious aspect than heretofore.

Concentrations of Chinese gunboats are reported in the Yangtze and there are some fears here of over-enthusiasm by Chinese gunboat commanders opening their guns on foreign shipping.

While fighting is reported still in progress between Chiang Kai Shek's troops and the northern forces, the rumors of negotiating for a truce continue to circulate.

Unconfirmed reports have been received here that the northern forces are gathering all their available forces for a concentrated attack on Hankow, leaving only skeleton defenses elsewhere.

COMMUNISTS ARE BEING EXECUTED

London, April 27—Seven executions of Chinese Communist agitators are being placed tonight at Canton, said a dispatch from Hong Kong today.

The same dispatch stated that five of the Communists were executed in Canton. The building was still broken out in the Communist mutiny at latest reports. Communists were suspected of starting it.

A Shanghai dispatch to the Daily Mail said that a heavy force of southern troops (estimated running as high as 10,000) had been moved from Wuhu to Hankow. Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is reported at Nanking.

ARRANGE TO HANDLE TAX BLANK FILING RUSH

Extra Day Will Be Allowed Since May 1 Falls on Sunday

With the time for filing personal tax returns rapidly nearing its close, County Auditor Earl E. Thomas announced today that special arrangements have been made for handling the rush which is expected during the next few days.

Although May 1 has been set as the last day, an extra day will be allowed to the fact that May 1 falls on Sunday. As a consequence, the filing day will be extended to include Monday.

After that date taxpayers will lose their right to the $100 exemption allowed in personal tax returns.

In order that shop workers and others who find it difficult to leave their places of employment during the day, an auditor's office will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight and Friday night on Saturday will remain open continuously from 8 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night, not closing for lunch or supper hours.

OFFICIALS RETURN FROM CINCINNATI WITH CHECK

County Surveyor C. R. Leavins and Commissioner's Clerk T. O. Leary returned last night from Cincinnati, where they delivered bonds recently sold to the Bonded Savings Bank & Trust Co. for financing of the East River-Carrollton improvement.

The check for the bonds, amounting to $22,705.25, was deposited in the county treasury this morning to the credit of the road improvement fund. The issue was for $22,942, the balance of the payment being secured with a premium of $236.75.

LEAVES UNPUBLISHED WORK ON WAR ACTIVITIES

Col. W. L. Curry, Formerly of Marysville, Dies at Columbus

Columbus, April 27—When Col. W. L. Curry, 87, died here today as the result of a paralytic stroke he left behind an unpublished history of Ohio's activities during the Revolution and the Civil War, over which he labored for more than 30 years.

It had been his hope that the present legislature might make some provision to aid in the publishing of the work. Legislation took no action and Col. Curry was taken fatally ill.

"If the bill to aid my work does not pass this year," Col. Curry told his friends, "I am afraid I will never live to see it done. My heart was in the work and I had hoped to finish it before I died."

Col. Curry was a former U. S. Army officer and a former U. S. Marine. He was a veteran of the Civil War and a former U. S. Marine.

Mrs. Della A. Detrow Denies Charges; Counters with Cruelty Allegations

Della A. Detrow, defendant in a suit for divorce started in common pleas court yesterday by James I. Detrow, in which he charged, along with other allegations, that she had made a practice of extracting money from his pockets without his consent, filed an answer today in which she denied all of her husband's accusations. In addition she makes counter charges alleging gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

At the time of their marriage in London, Md. on March 4, 1915, Mrs. Detrow was mother of four children by a former marriage, she states. "Four children, three of whom are now living, were born as the result of her union with Detrow."

Shortly after their marriage, Mrs. Detrow says, her husband became abusive and neglectful toward his stepchildren. She charges that he refused to call a doctor for Mabel Dixon, her seven-year-old child, within 12 hours of her death. The child had been ill a week, the petition relates.

Mrs. Detrow says that during their entire married life she was forced to earn a living for herself and children.

Detrow, she charges, used vile language and abused her in the presence of the children and neighbors and frequently told her he was in love with another woman, named in the petition, and "expected to have her some day in spite of the fact that she was married."

ARKANSAS CITY REFUGEES RESCUED

Memphis, Tenn., April 27—Rescue operations continued today at Arkansas City, where 3,000 refugees have been marooned for 45 hours. They were being taken by barges to Pine Bluff and Helena, Ark.

Otherwise flood conditions in the Mississippi Valley were unchanged today. Greenville, and surrounding towns were still under water but most of the refugees have been taken to Vicksburg for safety.

A steady stream of supplies of all sorts—food, clothing, tents, first aid kits—were sent from Memphis to the various Red Cross concentration camps along the flooded Mississippi River, almost as soon as they arrived on every train from the north.

This plan was conducted I have been in a literal hell. That is the truth because I have a very fine little wife and a wonderful daughter.

I went over to her home about two weeks ago tonight on a call to her. I had the office and I think I walked Queens Village for two hours and a half and absolutely gave up any idea of it. I started to hear from her again when I got out on the road and called her up and she said this night of last Saturday when they were going to a party that she would leave the doors open that I might get in. So I went in the house and I was coming downstairs to bed when they drove up the front. I felt to duck upstairs as I was three quarters down and I went there and she came in and came upstairs. She asked me if I was there. These implements were underneath her mother's pillow. She had written me about all the plans and details of what it was to be.

MISSOURI RIVER LEVEL FALLING

St. Louis, April 27—Gradually receding from the highest stage since 1903, the Mississippi River in this territory today was showing improvement and a continued steady fall was in prospect.

The river here has dropped almost a half foot in less than 24 hours.

The most encouraging indication for a continued drop was seen in the rapid fall of the Missouri River which had been feeding its flood waters into the Mississippi for several days. A fall of seven and one-half inches was recorded in the Missouri at St. Charles today.

Flood waters are draining off highlands which had been backed to traffic in the city of St. Louis and the flood waters are in sight. A light rain today, which helped the situation in the territory, was not sufficient to aid in the lessening of the sufferings of thousands of refugees housed in tents.

$2,546,800 RAISED FOR RELIEF WORK

Washington, April 27—The campaign of the American Red Cross to raise $2,546,800 for the relief of flood sufferers in the Mississippi Valley, the American Red Cross announced here today.

This total contribution to date includes a $100,000 gift from the Red Cross of the remainder, eastern states furnished $1,050,000, midwestern states gave $900,000, while $155,300 came from the Pacific coast.

The goal of the drive for relief funds was set at $5,000,000 by President Coolidge in his appeal to the country. Red Cross officials expect to reach this goal by the end of the week.

The deacons of the Rev. John Roach Stratton's church have prevented him from making from $50,000 to $100,000 on the side by lecturing and reporting murder trials. Just as likely as not they'll have the nerve to ask him next to confine his activities to the preaching of the gospel.

Aiding the Unfortunate.
The story of the unprecedented flood in the Mississippi valley carried in Tuesday's Star told of the loss of 200 lives, the inundation of 10,000 square miles of river bottom land and a property damage of $500,000,000, and there was expression of the fear that the worst of the flood was still to come.

Upon the same page it was related that Marion's response to the call for aid for the sufferers up to noon had been one fifty-dollar contribution and a number of donations left at the various banks of the city aggregating $63. In other words, Marion's first day response to the appeal in behalf of the flood-sufferers was $113.

The city of Marion has, let us say, a population of 30,000. More has been claimed for her by population enthusiasts, of course, but let us consider 30,000 the correct total. Thirty thousand people thus give $113 toward the alleviating of such suffering and distress as never before has been recorded in the many floods which have swept the Mississippi valley. This means that the per capita contribution of the people of Marion the first day after the publication of the plea for succor was a little over a third of a cent.

At the time this is put into type the noon report for today is not available, but let us hope that it shows a radical improvement over that of yesterday. There are easily a thousand men and women in Marion who could give a five-dollar bill at least and never miss it. We wonder how many of them will feel that they can, and act accordingly.

Marion has been so fortunate in escaping the fury of the elements that we sometimes feel that we do not realize even in a measure the misfortunes which have been suffered by others. Sometimes we feel that we have been so lucky in this regard that we do not know how to give commensurate aid with the need or our ability to give. We sincerely hope we may never have this knowledge thrust upon us by calamity, but let us give as though we had an appreciation of how much every bit of aid meant to those suffering. Let us put ourselves in their places, in our thoughts, and then give accordingly.

Hunting the Spotlight.

The Atlantic Monthly having put over a clever little bit of enterprise and gained some publicity by getting response to a "challenge" out of Governor Smith, of New York, it was to have been expected that the challenge business would become epidemic, that the result would be much like that of the Borah-Buller debate, which has been followed by the Wheeler-Darrow meeting and may continue so long as the wet-or-dry proposition endures, the solution of which appears to be a matter of the far-distant future.

The expected has come to pass. The editor of the Forum—his name is not material—has "challenged" President Coolidge to declare himself regarding his intentions concerning another term. The Forum editor asks:

"Do you believe that the tradition of American politics is hostile to a substantive third term in the presidency?"

"Do you believe that your reelection would be in harmony with the spirit of the common law which has given you your present power?"

"Do you consider that your silence is no way infringes the dignity of the presidential office?"

"Will you accord the electorate the leisure to consider whether it may be called upon to break with the traditions of one hundred and forty years of presidential office?"

To the first, the best answer is that there isn't any such tradition; that the one case in point is that of Roosevelt, and that party jealousies were responsible for the raising of this question in his case. That there is a difference between a third-term tradition and a "substantive third term" tradition.

President Harding served two years and five months. President Coolidge finished out the term, serving one year and seven months, and during that time he held himself practically bound by the Harding policies. Were the editor of the Forum to sit down in anticipation of eating a substantial meal, for such is the evident use the editor of the Forum makes of substantive, and were he served pastry, fruits, sweets, coffee and cigars, it would be hard to convince him that he had had either a substantial meal or a square deal.

The answer to the second question is that there is absolutely nothing in the constitution providing for the election of presidents in contravention to the election of a man to succeed himself as president, after he has finished the term of a predecessor and served one elective term.

The best answer to the third question is that the breaking of the presidential silence under the circumstances would be beneath the dignity of the presidential office, and that it is an affront to the highest office in the land to suggest it.

The fourth question is not worthy of an answer for the reason that it is based upon a false hypothesis—that the reelection of Mr. Coolidge would break a tradition of 140 years. As pointed out in the answer to the first question, there is no such tradition, and the statement that there is a fraud upon its face. As for the matter of time given the electorate to study the question of voting, there is a rather general feeling that it already wastes far too much time in political campaigns, and there is a movement on in several states to retard the date of primaries a month to avert this waste.

We surely hope that President Coolidge will in no way give recognition to the Forum's attempt to gain a little free publicity at his expense, and we will be very greatly surprised if he does accord it such recognition. The presidential office should be above and beyond approaches such as this of the editor of the Forum.

We want to be eminently fair, and so say this for broadened palates: the bread on 'em tastes pretty good.

The managing editor of the New York Graphic, the tabloid which printed the "composite pictures" at the time of the "Peaches" Bowling case, has been held for trial, and up to a late hour this afternoon we hadn't heard of a single newspaper in the land which hadn't been successful in restraining its sobs of grief.

"The Talk That Cheers" reads an editorial headline in the Cincinnati Enquirer. That wasn't the stuff they used for cheer down in the Queen City in the "good old days." Anybody who would have suggested it then as a substitute would have been flogged.

Albert Snyder probably would have been murdered just the same if his wife hadn't insured his life without his knowledge for $50,000, with double liability in the event that he came to his death by violence, the application for which he signed a blank understanding that it would be filled in for a $1,000 endowment policy, but just the same, to be on the safe side it may be well for all studiously to refrain from signing anything in blank.

Ways To Stop Itching Skin.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

A young man of eighty-seven wrote me from Minnesota. He delayed his letter until congress had adjourned, he said, lest the "affairs of government" might be retarded. If thought were directed to his troubles.

I fear the progress of government is interfered with too frequently by things of less importance than the comfort and welfare of an energetic citizen like my correspondent. If dilators were used to promote health they would be enduring.

"I am an old man," my reader writes, "well preserved, still hanging on to life with a grip that is a surprise to some and a pleasure to a few. My diet is ordinary Minnesota grub. I smoke good cigars when I can get them, but not to excess, never got drunk, never been in jail, never had a lawsuit; do not swear, chew tobacco or smoke cigars, and vote the Democratic ticket as often as the law will allow."

For the past three winters this gentleman has been troubled with what appears to be an eczema, but it does not break out. Little puffs rise under the skin and just make a fellow scratch and swear frightfully if he knows how, which I do not.

He states that by the use of home acid and carbolic acid he has subdued the itching. However, the annoyance continues much of the time.

This is a form of what the doctors sometimes call "mid-winter pruritis." Pruritis is the medical name for itching. In cold climates pronounced itching of the skin is very common in the winter. From other causes it may make the attack at any season.

Three things—food, heavy underwear, and powerful soap—are factors in the development of pruritis. Most cases, especially of winter pruritis, can be traced to one of these.

Flannel underwear plus woolen socks will cause the skin to perspire. The moisture may result in slight chapping, producing enough irritation to cause "the skin to itch dreadfully."

Strong soap may dissolve the protecting oils which lubricate and guard the skin. In consequence there is itching.

The most common cause relates to the digestion. The heavy eating of "Minnesota grub" or any other grub, may clog the system. Sauces, wheat cakes, lard, butter, cream, fat meats, and the absence of green vegetables and fruits, must be regarded as possible factors in causing pruritis.

To stop itching, the best remedy I can recommend is hyposulphite of soda. A tablespoonful to a cup of water makes a solution which may be mopped liberally upon the itchy parts.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

REQ. Q.—What do you advise for tugging in the ears? I often notice an echo when spoken to.

A.—As soon as the cold weather comes on and I use cold water a red rash appears and it resembles hives—what would you advise?

A.—Probably due to a catarrhal condition. First, of all clear up any trouble in the nose. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Hives are caused by a number of conditions—poor elimination, faulty diet, food poisoning, nervousness, etc., are all possible causes.

M.M.S. Q.—Will stretching make one grow taller?

A.—Not to any extent—if one has passed twenty—the chances of increasing the height are practically nil.

J.S. Q.—How can I overcome constipation?

A.—How can I get rid of gas on my stomach?

A.—Have your meals at regular hours. Eat simple, well-cooked food, avoiding foods unduly rich in fats and starches. Exercise is essential. For details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—This condition may be overcome by correcting the diet. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. Copyright, 1927.

Editorial Comment.

IN TWO STATES.

On the same day that the Ohio house of representatives killed the Cramer bill, the Michigan senate passed the Harris code of criminal procedure.

Both the Cramer bill and the Harris code provide for life imprisonment of criminals after fourth conviction of felony and for severe punishment of others whose criminal records are not so long.

The Harris code had been passed previously by the Michigan house, and it will be approved by Governor Green, who had made it an administration measure.

The Cramer bill was among the first bills introduced in the Ohio legislature, which has been in session nearly four months. The bill was introduced for weeks by a committee and when it finally was given a place on the calendar action was postponed indefinitely the reason given being that there is insufficient time for its consideration and passage by both houses before final adjournment.

The situation in Michigan and Ohio soon will be almost identical with that which existed in the adjoining states of New York and New Jersey after the Baumes habitual criminal law became effective in New York nearly a year ago. Professional criminals fled to New Jersey, where the laws were more lenient. Crime decreased twenty to forty per cent. in New York City. It increased in New Jersey, but that state now has the new Jones law, similar to the Baumes law and the crooks are moving again, westward.

When the Harris code becomes effective in Michigan, robbers and burglars and bandits will move down from Detroit, and vicinity to Toledo and other northwestern Ohio cities and towns and rural communities.

The Ohio legislature would have served the people better if it had devoted another week, if necessary, to the important business of passing the Cramer bill for the protection of the public.

Ohio needs such a law now. Ohio will need it more when the state becomes a haven of refuge for hard-boiled gangs which organize and commercialize crime. —Toledo Blade.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

Down South there used to be kinda wise mammas that used to give advice to the other colored folks when they were sick or about to be married or anything like that. These old mammas was in great demand most all the time, and they generally gave good advice, too. Maybe they was just as good as doctors mostly, because they made the customer feel just as good, and they didn't charge anything.

One colored lady sent for the wise woman to come and tell her about how to make her husband well. It seems like the old man had kinda fell and hurt himself, and wasn't getting about as fast as he ought to. The mammy looked at the patient and talked to him and prayed with him, and when she was going along away she had to give some advice, of course, just like that doctor has to satisfy his customer by writing a prescription.

The advice was that the old lady ought to feed the old man somethin' to strengthen him. "Tell you what," she said, "best thing is to give him a couple eggs and mix up an egg-nog for him. He'll be all right, soon."

"Thanks, Mammy," says the other lady. "Mighty kind of ya. And say, is they any partickler reason why them eggs needs to be boughten eggs? 'Cause my boy, Rastus, he can get eggs right smart, but about gettin' boughten eggs, that-ah am somethin' else again." —Copyright, 1927.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Wilhelm Cuno, once chancellor of Germany, now chairman of the board of the Hamburg-American steamship line, is visiting in this country. He knows about Germany, and he tells an interesting story. Germany now has 100,000 tons of shipping and will soon have 1,000,000 tons. That is close to the amount of shipping he had before the war. He says the political situation over there is sturdy and the economic life of the nation is reaching a higher level. That is good news, not only for Germany but for the rest of the world. It can be said of nations: We are members, one of another.

Darrow says: "To cure crime we must obliterate the cause of crime, which is to say that we must assure every individual a healthy, comfortable, stimulating environment."

That will help, but it won't do everything. It is true that criminals usually come from a bad environment. So have some of the world's greatest men. There is something inside that environment won't touch—either for good or bad.

Marry for beauty, says Knight Dunlap, American psychologist. Choose your mate for physical perfection first. Thus humanity will develop a super-race, he says, which will have not only beauty and health, but also intelligence. There will be a difference of opinion, even among scientists. There are some examples. Sheridan, the playwright; Napoleon III, Marshal Saxe and many others who have ranked among the great, were the sons of women famous for their beauty.

The exceptions to the general rule, in human nature, make life interesting. A man has just given $1,000,000 for church and religious work and he asks to have his name suppressed. Most of us are not only willing to take credit for a good act, but we do not object to a little extra credit. Most of us are not so much interested in justice as we are in getting a little more than justice. Here is a man who conceals an act that would bring him tremendous applause. What is the answer?

Talks by Those in Public Eye.

WILLIAM GIBBS MACDOO.

William G. McAdoo was born at Marietta, Georgia, October 31, 1863. He studied law, practiced in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and later in New York City, where he became president of the company operating the Erie Hudson river tubes. In 1913 he became secretary of the treasury in President Wilson's cabinet, and in addition, in 1917, was made director general of the railways for the World-war period. In the last two Democratic national conventions he has developed great strength as a possible Democratic presidential nominee. McAdoo was a son-in-law of President Wilson.

While Mr. McAdoo is a believer in an economic tariff, he believes that our present tariff law might be greatly improved. He expresses his ideas thus:

"A tariff based upon economic grounds is justifiable; whereas, a tariff based upon a system of political rewards or for the purpose of political advantage can not be justified. The Republican party has given us always the latter kind of tariff legislation, and while I admit that certain economic advantages that ought to be secured in any tariff are embraced in the political tariff, yet if the political element was removed the economic advantages would be greater."

"In any future tariff legislation agriculture must, to the extent that it is possible to give it an economic benefit, get equal, or even greater, consideration than industry. The maladjustment between industry and agriculture, to which the present tariff has contributed so greatly, is one of the outstanding economic problems of the country."

"I was one of the strongest advocates of the tariff commission which was authorized by the congress during the Wilson administration. I had many talks with President Wilson about this matter. He wisely insisted that the commission be non-partisan and that it should not be permitted to recommend tariff legislation; that its jurisdiction should be confined to research and investigation, and that it should be required to make reports from time to time to the congress of the results of its investigations as a basis for intelligent and impartial tariff legislation."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, April 27.—The other evening one of those clattery chop houses on West Forty-Eighth street I was hedged in at a rather table alone. On the back of a menu I jotted down scraps of conversation from the surrounding tables. Here they are, with out change:

Josephine Baker did a split on a runway... Paris is quite worth while... Ella was trying to get another station and got him. He's a western preacher and quite cultivated... And then a bum at the Doyers street mission told of being converted... He was a screamer.

I've lived in New York twenty-one years and no one has ever said an unkind thing to me about the Jewish religion... I never did drink until lately. And I got to liking it. I quit... There's a place opposite the Strand theater where you can buy silk stockings until midnight.

George dear, don't you think you'd ever phone about the baby... I did that to put you wise. He saw you holding my hand. Now cut it out... Innes died in the nineties. Sent has always been my favorite... Sometimes I spend an hour looking at one picture.

There's something about coffee in brass pots... He comes here every month from Columbia, and never brings his wife. She's either an invalid or terribly dumb... I like to read Menckin, but I prefer Nathan. They certainly write what they think.

Conny is all right, but I usually go to Long Beach. It has more class... Lulu was there the day Bert Savoy was hit by lightning. Waiter, what do you use around here for sugar?... I've tried for six Sundays to get in a movie. The only way is to go to some country town.

Her name was Edith, but she changed it to Editha and went to live on the Drive. Editha Whiteman's face is painted on his orchestra. Good thing they didn't have to paint on a flute... And that is what a section of the great American public is thinking!

Giant corporations continue to deplete newspaper ranks of crack men by giving them the post of vice president in charge of public relations, which is the new glorification of the press agent job. BIBLE SCHOOL IS PLANNED BY ASSOCIATION

Vacation Instruction To Be Arranged by Ministerial Body

Marion children will again have an opportunity of attending a vacation Bible school, according to announcement made today by Rev. A. W. Swan, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, representing the Marion County Ministerial Association. All churches in the city will cooperate in the program to open here Monday, June 6, and close Sunday night, July 3.

The school is open to all children between the ages of six and 12 years. Children included in the first grade of school. Sessions are to be held for three hours each morning, from 9 to 11 a. m. at the following churches: Forest Lawn, Highland, Pearl Street, Greenwood, Forest Lawn, Greenwood and N. Main Street.

R. A. Garvin in Charge
The program is in charge of R. A. Garvin, principal of Vernon Heights Junior High School, assisted by the program committee which consists of: Kenneth Swan, Dr. U. S. Davis, Rev. George E. Groves and Rev. H. E. Wilkerson.

Plans for this community wide enterprise are similar to those of last year. At that time approximately 1,000 students were enrolled and it is thought the enrollment will total 1200 this year. On the closing night, July 3, the students will be presented in a pageant of religious nature at Chautauque Hall. The Marion Steam Shovel Band will also be heard in concert as a part of the program.

WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS NOW ON ANNUAL TOUR IS REGARDED NATIONAL INSTITUTION

TOP—A section of the Circus Kitchens and the Blacksmith Cottrell. Noted Rider
BELOW—Miss Louise

With only a few more days remaining before the appearance of the Walter L. Main Circus here, considerable interest is being manifested not only by the younger generation, but also by many of the older "boys." The Walter L. Main Circus, now on its forty-eighth tour of the United States, is regarded as a national institution.

The Walter L. Main circus, which comes to Marion on Friday, May 6, affords a complete program of the newest and most novel circus features available today. Down through the long years of its history, the cream of the show world has been picked to select the numbers for its program and each year the good is weeded from the bad and kept for a new season. In this manner the very best circus entertainment to be found in the world can be found with the Walter L. Main Circus.

Among the features this season are flying acrobats, a sextette of dancers who cavort gracefully on a lofty wire; Australian whip-crackers and bushmen; two herds of educated elephants; three troupes of Chinese acrobats and acrobats; and forty clowns whose laugh-provoking antics have been unparalleled in American circus history.

Foremost among the equestrians to be seen with the big show this season is the Cottrell-Powell Family, with their tango horses from the London Hippodrome; Miss Bessie Hollis, a new comer in circus ranks who looks more the part of a debutante than a somewhat under, and who is the product of one of the most fashionable "girls" finishing

FINAL STEP IN SHOVEL SALE EXPECTED SOON

Transaction Will Be Definitely Concluded Before Thursday Midnight, Claim

With actual transfer of property of the old Marion Steam Shovel Co. to the new corporation organized by W. A. Harriman Co., Inc. of New York City, now under way, the entire transaction will be definitely concluded within the next 24 hours, an official of the company stated today.

The final step will be taken before midnight, Thursday, this official says, by payment of the purchase money to stockholders of the old company. Although no official statement regarding the price of the stock has ever been made, it is understood on reliable authority that the entire payment will total in the neighborhood of $7,000,000. The Marion National Bank is acting as fiscal agent for the stockholders.

Dead for the factory and office buildings here and more than 70 acres of land making up the building site and storage yards was filed with the Marion County recorder yesterday and similar transfers are being made at other places where the company owns branch office properties.

With the transfer of Marion's largest industry to the new company now virtually concluded, interest centered today in an announcement from one of its officials reaffirming the former statement that there will be no change in the present corps of executives and employees and that the policy of management will not be affected in any degree.

J. L. Ackerson President

The only important change is the election of J. L. Ackerson of New York City as president to succeed Frank A. Huber, who will continue with the new company as treasurer. Mr. Ackerson is expected to arrive here soon and take active charge of the business. The company's financial condition is strong, and its working force is well equipped to handle the new developments which will necessitate an increase in working force. The company is expected to have a large increase in production and will expand its plant in the near future.

Sales of stocks and bonds issued by the new company will start in Marion on Friday, May 6, and it is expected that a few days later the company will have taken active charge of the business. The

MEETING TO ARRANGE MEMORIAL PLANS SET

Conference Will Be Held Monday Night at Community House

The executive committee representing the G. A. R., Spanish American War Veterans, and American Legion has called a meeting to be held next Monday night at the Community House on High St. for the purpose of discussing arrangements for Marion's annual Memorial Day observance, May 30. The meeting is to be attended by representatives of various local organizations which expect to participate in the program.

Plans are under way to have Cooper Post, No. 117, of the G. A. R., represented at the state and national encampments of the organization this year by its drum corps and color guards, definite arrangements now being considered by officers of the Post.

This year's national encampment, to take place at Dayton in September, will be the last national gathering of the Civil War veteran organization held in Ohio it has been announced, and for that reason Posts throughout the state are making special plans for making the event one of the most notable in history.

Marion's drum corps and color guards are expected to figure prominently in the encampment program.

The state encampment will be held at Canton in June.

Cars, too—have Spring Fever!

SPRING days are driving days. In warm weather, your motor gets hotter, causing new knocks to appear and old ones to pound harder. Knocks! Pings! They are annoying to you and positively injurious to your car. They are warnings of wasted power—outcries of a racked motor! They steal your car's pep and cause it to perform lazily. Cars, too, have spring fever!

Spring days are DETONOX days, for DETONOX is non-detonating. It is the preventive and cure for those power-deadening knocks. It is the proper motor diet for spring fever.

And if you think your car performs well now, just try a tank full of DETONOX and you will know real performance! You will discover a new store of smooth, silent power. You will get better mileage too, and mileage means economy.

To get the thrill of perfect motor performance and the full joy of spring motoring, use DETONOX Gasoline!

Washington, April 27.—An announcement of high power for many broadcast stations by the Federal radio commission has placed the United States in possession of the most powerful and far-reaching set-up of radio transmitters in the world.

After the commission's permanent plan is worked out, in about six months, virtually every portion of the earth will be able to "hear into" some American station, experts asserted today. KGO, of Oakland, Cal., and KOA, of Denver, 12,500 watts, both owned by the General Electric Co.

she were about to cry.
Jack Nevins, looking at her specu-you rather I didn't use it?"

"I—I had hoped you wouldn't," yes.
He shot a strange look at her. All right. Then he removed his hand from the phone's mouthpiece.
"Hello, Pete," he said. "Pete, kid that story. Yes—strong dope. No, that's all."
He hung up the receiver and then turned away from the phone, adjusting his crutches beneath his arm pits.
"Oh, thank you," said Nellie Downing, laying a hand on his arm. "Thank you. It will mean so much to poor Mollie and Prof. Jack."
He laughed lightly. "It's all right.
Well—he's swinging off on his crutches.
—I guess I'll be moving along there.
Nothing more I can do, is there?"
"No. You've been very kind. I'll get in touch with you again to thank you."

later and thank him."
A doctor came in to see how the patient was coming along. He whispered a few brief notes on the nurse who was watching him. Then he nodded and gravely.
Nellie Downing spoke to him. "For the first time he saw that she was waiting a Red Cross nurse."
"Tell me," she said, "there any chance for him to get up?"
The doctor shrugged. "I don't remember. It was a matter of time. What kind of shape was he in?"
The little nurse told him, and the doctor pursed his lips and turned to look once more at the patient when he learned of Jim Elwell's loss of memory and speech.
"You had," he answered, "You'd better tell your friends to leave pretty soon. They can come back later, if you wish."
Nellie nodded understandingly. She moved across to Mollie and Prof. Downing, stars the faithful Mike Hennigan was sitting in a chair, his feet sprawled out on the floor in front of him. He was whispering beneath his breath. He jumped to his feet when he saw the doctor coming toward him and sprang forward with an eager question. Nellie Downing held up a warning finger.
Mollie was leaving bravely on Prof. El-well's arm.

John Clayton of Indianapolis was one of those rare individuals who consider it good exercise for the mind to pause occasionally in the regular routine of everyday affairs and the observance of things in general to take an introspective look.
While he was fully agreed with the man who said that the "proper study of mankind is man," he believed, too, that a very helpful study was that of one's inner consciousness.
The father had told him once in a heart-to-heart talk, "Get acquainted with yourself, John, and perhaps you will find some days that have an acquaintance honest enough to post you on a few things you would never have known by any other way."
And when one comes to know John Clayton well, at your brains are of the quality I hope they are, you probably will find that he is right.

John Clayton, it may be guessed, had been reading between the lines of some letters from Mollie. He had a measure of ability along that line. But he didn't like to consider a gentle "cluck" when he considered that the circumstances warranted it.
Margaret and Betty had been thinking a little too much of themselves.
John Clayton felt, and not enough of some others whom he considered entitled to a great deal of thought.

The twins stared at him in some surprise. This was the first time they had ever given out of them the lightest reason for thinking they could possibly do anything but perfection in his opinion.
"Why, surely you don't mean, on you, Uncle John," began Margaret wonderingly. "That you really think Betty and I that we are that we are could—" her voice trailed off into a melancholy gurgle, while the dark eyes looking up into his grew misty with a flood of tears.

Uncle John, however, as the girls were beginning to learn, had a way usually of finishing what he started.
Years, he had discovered years before, frequently were women let women both in defense and attack. And he had been through the scale of too many emotional skirmishes to let a little thing like tears bother him very much. But Uncle John was a diplomat as well as a hard-boiled old bachelor, and he knew how to skirt this ice, too.

off coffee now, of course not, he made answer in soothing accents, the while he patted the russet head affectionately.
"That is," he added qualifyingly, "I don't think either of you would or could intentionally hurt Mollie or Prof.
but you know," he went on, slowly feeling his way, "that thoughtless often carries a hurt that is even more permanent in its lasting effects than downright intent is. If I didn't know that just to call your attention to these things is all that is necessary I should be worried grievously."
And now, he added, they had better go talk it over and decide for themselves the best thing to do.

As a result of this little conference,
Nurse Martha Dalton in Camdensville was telephoned that same afternoon and asked to get the Elwell house ready for the homecoming. The girls, she was informed, would be in Cam-densville the next day, on the evening of which Prof and Mollie were due to arrive with Jim Elwell.

"And remember," said John Clayton's parting instructions to the twins at the railroad station in Indianapolis, "I remember you to go to the Elwell house and see how they are getting on. I won't be there. Now be good and bring them all back with you when you return."

At that moment, although they were in blissful ignorance of it, Jim Elwell lay in the shadow of death's door in Bellevue hospital, New York.
He had not regained consciousness the day after his accident. Nor the day after that. On the third day Nellie Downing paid a call on Dr. Lawson, the famous brain surgeon. That worthy gentleman, remembering the case, and the sad, haunting look on the face of Mollie Elwell, went back to the hospital with her, but even he shook his head gravely when he had seen Jim.

A Sequel to "Revelations of

Thrilling Action
I KNEW of course, that there was but one way to treat Jerry. First a reformation concerning the Lumbago, not mysterious, new neighbors, and that was the gossip, resting really which he was showing upon Mary. If I showed that I attached the least interest to it, I could imagine the turbulence which Kate would conjure from the depths of her morose imagination.
That my little mind had stopped her cake-baking and from the far corner of the kitchen was listening open-mouthed to Jerry's narrative, had been evident to me ever since our foolish young neighbor began speaking. Her nervousness already had been enough to her discovery that Mr. Lumbago was a Transylvanian, belonging to a country the devil, and whose royal family had but a few weeks ago returned, in their own land after a tour of the United States, and I wished to add no more fuel to the flame of her prejudice.
So although I tried to keep the subject of Jerry's narrative, I showed Mary's embarrassment, I showed that Miss Lumbago had been much impressed by Nellie's appearance and had asked him which woman he came to see at the farmhouse, "the young married one or the girl."
"Much as I'm flattered, Mrs.," I said, answering her gaze, "I can't miss part of Mr. Ventzen's interest."

IN GOOD HEALTH SINCE APRIL; SHE CREDITS KONJOLA

Dizzy, Sick Headaches, Back
Pains, Stomach Trouble,
All Completely Gone

"It is a good thing to find a medicine that will give relief, but still a greater thing to have your health troubles ended, once and for all, with no thought of taking any more medicine. That is just what Konjola has done for me—put me in good health last April, and when I quit taking this medicine my troubles never came back, as I will state that I have at last found the right remedy, and will always recommend Konjola to everyone who is suffering."

This grateful statement was made recently by Mrs. Roy Coffman, well-known Indianapolis, Ind., lady living at 1029 Williams st., the city, in public praise of the celebrated Konjola medicine, which is now in such great demand in Marion at Stump & Sons (formerly Stump Pharmacy) and which is being personally explained by the Kon-jola Man himself to large crowds who call to see him throughout the day.

"Konjola has conquered a great many health troubles for me," reads Mrs.
Coffman's statement. "My stomach, liver, kidneys were all disordered. The worst suffering I had was from dizzy, sick headaches. At times I thought my head would burst in pain. Black spots would appear before my eyes, and I would become light-headed and nearly fall over.
Terrible, sharp pains would center in my back, and usually about 20 minutes after I ate, the food would turn sour, then vomiting spells, and I would be bilious for several days at a time. Cold, clammy sweat would stand all over my body, and I had hot flashes."

"That was exactly my condition when I got my first bottle of Konjola. It certainly helped me and I took 3 bottles more. That was last Spring, and this Summer and Fall I have been in better health than I ever was in previous years. I can eat a hearty meal and it digests so well that I don't even know it. All the headaches, dizzy spells and hot flashes are gone. I have good health in general, and never become restless at night like I used to. The biliousness is gone, and I don't have the sour ridges after meals or vomiting spells."

"It is wonderful to find a medicine that will end all these miseries, and I will further state that all my friends who have taken Konjola can say the same good things about it that I have."

This Konjola is the new medical compound that has recently accomplished such surprising results in so many instances at large clinics such as Glenside and throughout the Ohio Valley.
It is believed to be just what thousands of sufferers in Marion have needed for years to actually reach their goal.

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 West Main St.
(Marion's busiest downtown outlet) and the easiest to get off others he is daily meeting the public and forwarding and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free Samples given.—Ad.

Fifty-One Horses In Training At Marion Race Track

Many Local Entries May Be Made In Marion Short Ship Races Late In June

Ten Trainers Engaged To Care For Trotters Here; Racing Game Is Showing Revival This Season; Santaro, Trained by M. L. Anderson, Looks Good

BY WAYNE GROVES

WITH 51 horses quartered at the Marion County fairgrounds track, the trotting horse game in this city this season is showing a splendid revival. This is a larger number of horses than has been in active training at the Marion track for years, and incidentally includes a higher class lot of horses than this plant has seen for some time.

Present indications are that there will be a good showing of local horses entered in Marion's Ohio Short Ship Circuit meeting the week of June 20.

The trainers are 10 in number. The roster reads as follows: William Anderson, Henry Adams, C. S. Cummings, W. H. Wright, Harry Pifer, Orr Crane, William Clemens, John Talbot, Dick Webb, and George Deul.

Anderson New Trainer
M. L. Anderson, formerly of Kenton, is a new trainer here, but present indications are that his stable of seven head is a strong one.

Santaro, credited with a heat record of 2:04 1/2, is a trotter that needs only to have good luck to be a very trouble some sled in the show classes, for it so happens that he is eligible to them, despite his fast record. The gelding is reported to be a full brother to Santaro, 1:50 1/2, that made much history in the stables of Tommy Murphy of New York, and the late "Pop" Geers.

Santaro has been tied up in the litigation of an estate for several seasons, but last year at the Cranwood Meeting won a heat over the mile and an eighth route in 2:24 1/2, equal to a mile around 2:10.

Don Worthing, 2:13 1/2, trotting, is a son of the popular sire Ortolan A. worthy, 2:07 1/2. He has won a heat at every track he raced over during the last year and his chances are well liked by his trainer.

Two Others
Bud Earl, 2:10 1/2, and General Admiral, 2:00 1/2, are a nice shifty pair of pacers in this stable, and are the property of Conover & Baker, of Kenton. The latter paced to his record over a two lap track last year and is eligible to the 2:14 class. Bud Earl, while not having such a fast record, distinguished himself last season by coming in second to Van Lou at the Bucyrus meeting in 2:00 1/2.

The local tailor, Tom Tyler, is the owner of the other two members of Anderson's charges. The older one, which is now four, goes on the pace and is showing a lot of speed. The other, one year younger, takes to the diagonal gait and looks promising.

Adams Stable

Henry Adams, custodian of the track, feels that there is quite a lot of useful speed in the right hand that he is training. The handsome bay mare, Moiged, by Transplant, 2:12 1/2, paced and trotted last season. She is an extra nice gaited steady going trotter, and when she is trained around by the money this year is up to be very useful. She is the property of Henry Adams, also Northern Bud 2:17 1/2, a trotter that is eligible to the 2:20 class and can show a lot of pep.

Adams and John Edmundo are joint owners of Pabster Boy, a four year old pacer that last season took a half mile track record of 2:13 1/2.

Harvey Otha, is another fellow team man that has hopes of having a shot at speed to the races, and judging from the manner in which Transplant, a five year old green trotter is taking to his work, there is reason to believe his hopes may be realized. This also has a two year old trotter by Biville 2:00 1/2.

Adams' stable is completed with a yearling and a two year old, the former being by Todd Mac 2:07 1/2. The two year old is by Biville, 2:00 1/2. This colt trotted an eighth in 21 seconds, recently and has had no real work.

Cummings' Outfit
C. S. Cummings is busy with a stable of four that belong to Granger & Haas, local real estate operators. Air Motor 2:19 1/2, by Azoff, is the only record horse in this stable. He is eligible to the 2:25 paces and shows to be a shifty going silencer. Miss Ruth is a four year old trotting filly. She has not had a lot done with her but looks to be the making of a trotter. The other two in the stable are both green ones, but are pleasing their trainer with the manner in which they take their work.

W. H. Wright, who does the shoeing for the various stables, finds time on the side to work a pair of mags. One of these is Tom Huff, a green trotter by C. S. Forbes, 2:12 1/2. The other is a slick made mare by Baron Chan, 2:04 1/2, and is one that Wright likes very well. She goes free legged and is an oily gaited pacer.

Pifer Has Large Stable
Harry Pifer is training the largest stable at the plant, having an even dozen head in his care. He also holds

POLE VAULT MARK IN DANGER

The existing pole vault records will be in danger when the star "flea" of the college world clash in the annual Penn Relay games at Franklin Field, April 29-30. Sabin Carr of Yale, who set a world's indoor record last winter; Bradley, of Princeton, who tied with Carr in the indoor inter-collegiate meet, and Phil Northrop of Michigan, are three of the men who will seek to boost the present marks.

RAY NEWTON TO MEET GRACE IN EAGLES' SHOW

Three Other Bouts Scheduled for Next Monday Night at Hall

RAY NEWTON, the tow-headed boy from Mansfield, and Irving Grace, of Columbus, will battle eight rounds in the main go of the next boxing show at Eagles' Hall, Monday, May 2. They will enter the ring weighing 124 pounds. Newton is probably the best liked of all fighters to appear here so far this season in the semi-finals of main bouts. He is a neat boxer and one of the best in his class. He has appeared here in the previous two shows held in Eagles' Hall.

Irving Grace of Columbus, was seen in the local ring in the first show of the season against Harold Williams of this city. The fight was called at the end of the first round when the Marion boy was injured and unable to go on with the bout. Grace is well known in Ohio boxing circles and will stack up well against Newton.

A certain raser, a preliminary, and semi-finals, also are scheduled for Monday night.

Lee vs. Flannagan
Johnny Lee of Akron, will take on Jimmy Flannagan of Dayton, in a semi-final of six rounds. Lee, it will be remembered, appeared in the main go a few weeks ago against Johnny Geary of Marion. Flannagan is just in from the western coast, it is said, and is ready to meet any and all comers in his class.

Harold Williams, a Marion youth, will meet Tommy Jones of Columbus in the preliminary bout of six rounds. Williams is well known by local fans and needs no introduction. In his bout here a few weeks ago, he showed near ability as a boxer and will be ready to go again Monday night. Jones is one of the many good boxers in the Capital city and will give fans all they want in the fighting line.

Another Marion Boy
Another Marion boy, Ray Schneider, will be seen in the curtain raiser Monday. He will have Tommy Glenn of Springfield, as his opponent. It will be the first public appearance for both. They will enter the ring at 140 pounds and will go four rounds.

Seats for the match are on sale at the Marion Billiard Parlor, Markert and Lewis, and the Eagle club rooms.

A. A. U. Championship Games May Go To Either Lincoln or Omaha This Summer

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, April 27.—There seems all bids. To date, four inquiries have been made, two each from the East and West. But the West is due.

Last at Philadelphia

The last games were held in connection with the semi-centennial celebration in Philadelphia. The 1936 games are certain to go to either Philadelphia or Boston, as it will be the official trials for the Olympic team and the successful winners must be named on the Atlantic Coast for an immediate sailing. So it seems to be almost imperative that the West be duly recognized this year the south having waived its choice.

Both Lincoln and Omaha made early inquiries as soon as it was definitely established that New Orleans had withdrawn. The Nebraska cities wanted to draw the A. A. U. would consider a western site. The A. A. U. wishes to announce that it would, well, still is considering the matter as desirably that tentative offers from the Yankee Stadium in New York and the town of East Orange, N. J., have been further than the anteroom.

Neither of the probable bidders is favored over the other at this time; in fact, it is understood that A. A. U. men in that section are in a regular choice, so long as the game goes to their state.

It, therefore, will hold the question of which town would make the most attractive offer in the housing and competitive facilities, the cost of putting on the games, to an estimate made to the same day. Because of the necessary preparations, the date of the games probably will be postponed to next week in August.

Peter's Adventures

A Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

WAS Mrs. Chipmunk pleased? The boy had thought she would be at the prize of his good housekeeping. She didn't act a bit as though she was. She didn't seem at all interested in what he was saying—indeed, she didn't so much as glance at him, but suddenly turned away and ran out of the bedroom, the boy surprised at such seeming rudeness, close at her heels. Outside in the corridor she began to look about in circles, stopping every now and then to sniff, and now Peter saw that both the Chipmunk brothers had their noses in the air.
